

Defence Bonds Sold At College Station

Students Can Buy Bonds

The students of Mary Washington, will now be able to secure saving bonds and defense stamps at the new college post office, Dr. Alvey announced in convocation Wednesday. Dr. Alvey said in part, "Today Americans are again being called upon to support their ideals. It is up to us not only to support them by verbal means but also to contribute our saving."

In connection with the announcement of the sale of defense bonds, a short educational movie was shown illustrating the many needs of the country which will be benefited by the money from this sale.

For details on the purchase of these defense bonds and stamps, students can refer to the pamphlets which were distributed at convocation.

Mrs. Bolling Is Honored At Tea

On Thursday afternoon, October sixteen, Seacoack Hall was the scene of a tea given by the German Club in honor of the new members and Mrs. Brawner Bolling, sponsor.

Guests were received at the door by Beverly Roberts and Margaret Berry, who directed them to the receiving line, consisting of the officers, Aloise Brill, Mrs. Brawner Bolling, Jean Ivery, Myran Russell, and Martha Minges.

Edna Reed and Mary Margaret Tegg furnished music while Betty Whitacre Hunter presided at the tea table. Later in the afternoon a vocal solo was given by Mary Rita O'Rourke.

Members of the German Club assisting at the tea were: Jane Booney, Nancy Brookner, Jean Daugherty, Nancy Duval, Rebecca Ellis, Mary Jo Eley, Leah Fleet, Lindlay Goodrick, Jean Jenks, Jane Ellen Johnson, Roberta Kingston, Virginia Morgan, Caroline Muirhead, Betty Parshall, Mary Patton, Margery Stickles, and Elizabeth Young.

The new members are: Ann Abell, Elizabeth Adair, Grace Bailey, Jeanne Butcher, Jane Browley, Caroline Caverlee, Ann Clark, Emma Jane Davis, Helen Denman, Elizabeth Duncan, Shirley Easterly, Winifred Granger, Mary Juanita Gray, Elizabeth Griggs, Anne Harris, Dorothy Harrington, Jean Hopkins, Joyce Hovey, Elizabeth Hughes, Beatrice Jones, Anne Kavanagh, Catherine Laushey, Catherine Mitchell, Marjorie Mitchell, Mary Frances Newton, Marian Powelson, Lois Reed, Elizabeth Rudolph, Martha Scott, Jeanne Steenburgh, Alma Swartz, Patricia Turley, Ann White and Lillian Ann Witten.

EDITH BEAMER

Publication Editors To Attend Press Conference

Farmville State Teachers College and Hampden-Sydney College will be joint host and hostess to seventy-five out-of-town delegates when the Virginia Inter-scholastic Press Association convenes on the campus of Farmville S. T. C., November 7 and 8.

Allene Overbey, president of the organization, announces that registration for editors, business managers, and staff members representing twenty-nine Virginia colleges, will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning, November 7.

Contests Included
The registration committee will receive at this time the registration of all delegates and publications in the four contest classes which include college annuals for 1941, handbooks for 1941, magazines for 1940-41, and four consecutive copies of the newspaper published between November 9, 1940 and November 6, 1941.

Certificates will be awarded winners in the various groups.

The program of events will feature well-known professional and college journalists as speakers and leaders for the discussion groups for yearbooks, magazines and handbooks, sports writings, business managers, news writing, make-up and coverage.

Edith Beamer, editor-in-chief, of the Battletide will represent the annual at the convention. The Bulletin plans to send four delegates: Sally McPhail, editor; Lotte Brockwell, news editor; Margaret Simon, business manager, and Alyce Amory, advertising manager.

All Junior Officers Are From Dominion

The Junior class met on October 16 at 10:15 in the Mary Ball parlors to elect its officers, and representatives to Student Government, for the coming year.

Alice Burton from Hampton, Va. was elected vice-president. Natasha Kadick from The Plains, Va., secretary, and Virginia Westlake from Hopewell, Va., treasurer of the Junior class. As its representative to Student Council the Junior class chose Frances Rector, who is from Chilhowie, Va.

Under the leadership of Lee Hall, the Junior class sees an exciting and successful year ahead.

News Brief

At their meeting on Thursday afternoon the Leaders Club planned to back the Campus Clean-up Campaign, organized by The Bulletin.

Announcement

There will be an important meeting of all Bulletin staff reporters and editors at 5 o'clock on Monday, in Monroe, Room 8.

Dr. Bauer Is Selected Senior Class Sponsor

Dr. Richard H. Bauer, of the history faculty, has been selected by the seniors as their sponsor. Dr. Bauer worked with last year's graduating class in this same capacity, so he is familiar with the general problems confronting the senior class.

The officers for the class were elected Tuesday. They are: Ann Abell, vice-president; Martha Tavenner, secretary; and Martha Porter Gibson, treasurer. With the help of these officers in Richmond for many years, and Dr. Bauer's guidance, the seniors are anticipating a very successful year.

Elementary Students To Take In Pledges

Alpha Tau Pi, professional fraternity for elementary teachers will pledge new members into the society this Fall. The pledges include: Virginia Shellhorn, Evelyn Kerby, Mildred Whitaker, Bonnie Bendroth, Beulah Spain, Becky Buckingham, Caroline Muirhead Madeline Warren.

Under the leadership of Anne Givier of Norfolk, president, the organization has launched into a program for the year 1941-42. At its first meeting of the year plans were made for expansion. Committees were appointed for the quarter.

Most Alpha Tau Pi members of last year are now in the field. Some of the girls teaching are: Shirley Bortner-Hampton, Martha Sned—Fairfax County, Dorothy Day—Hampton, Frances Dugger—Denbigh, Mary Unruh—Berryville, Shirley Wingo—Spotylvania and Lorraine Dove—Brly's Cross Roads.

Classical Club Initiation Held

The Athenaeum initiated new members for the year on Tuesday, October 14.

The master of ceremonies, Fay Fletcher, conducted the inspiring ritual. Miss Fletcher was assisted in the reading of the ceremony by Katherine F. Nutt, Marionette Klinesmith, Maxine Ruckman, Mary Vaughn Hazel, Mary Ellen Glascock and Betty Collins.

The initiates were, Kathryn Arthur, Elizabeth Carmichael, Frances Felts, Dorothy Harris, Susie Walder, Ruth Brainard, Stacia Douros, Kit Garreston, Nancy Watkins, Betty Pipkin, Nitza Julias, and Mariam Haney.

After the ceremony refreshments were served in the Y. W. room.

Band Sponsors Dance Tonight

The Mary Washington College dance orchestra is giving a benefit dance tonight in Monroe gym. They are planning to use the proceeds from this dance to buy new orchestration, music stands, and a public address system of its own. Dancing starts at eight o'clock and admission is ten cents. They are asking for your support.

Dancing Teacher To Present Ballet Here

Miss Idear Steele Traylor is now teaching ballet and modernistic dancing on Thursdays here on campus. Miss Traylor has had the Tray-Boy School of Dancing in Richmond for many years, and was the teacher of Edith Donnan, a former student of Mary Washington College.

The group here at school is composed of girls who have had one or two seasons of dancing. Starting Winter Quarter there will be lessons on Tuesdays and Thursdays, two lessons a week. There will also be a beginner's class, one lesson to be used for modernistic dancing, some soft shoe dancing, some jass, and the other lesson in ballet. However Miss Traylor will teach any type of dancing.

Miss Taylor is bringing her Richmond pupils for Convocation next Wednesday. It will be a demonstration of all types of dancing. The big event will be the ballet to Strauss's "Tales of the Vienna Woods."

M.W.C. Participates In Charity Horse Show

The horse show given for the benefit of the underprivileged children of James Monroe High School is being sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association at the Oak Hill Stables on Sunday. For the admission price of thirty-five cents students can enjoy doing their bit for charity and see not only the best riders in Fredericksburg, but also nineteen M. W. C. girls.

Students riding for Mary Washington College Class from the college at 3 p. m. Sunday, are: Natalie Tallman, Marjorie Post, Maude Bishop, Mary Jane Miller, Virginia Morgan, Linda Goodrick, Margaret Donovan, Jane Youmans, Marty Stickles, Betty Carmichael, Flora Coppenhaver, Ann Green, Dorothy Featherstone, and Dorothy Barrett.

Girls entering the open classes and showing horses are: Josephine Seydel, Ellen Tremble, Sue Wilson, Aloise Brill, and Marjorie Hudson.

Mary Washington College On The Air

Every day from its studios in George Washington Hall, the Radio Broadcasting class presents a fifteen minute program over the local station WFVA.

These broadcasts offer a large variety and should be of interest to all the students.

The programs for the following week include: The Ca-rillon Trio on Monday, Manu-

One hundred and seven dollars have been donated so far toward the mobile kitchen Mary Washington College is buying for England.

This project was initiated by a program given in chapel last Friday, when Mrs. Clayton Glass, daughter-in-law of Senator Glass, spoke on the subject, "Young America Wants to Help." It was pointed out that many other colleges had done their bit to help England by donating to the British fund.

The cost of each kitchen is fifteen hundred dollars. This means that each girl on the hill will have to contribute one dollar. The response so far has been gratifying. Those girls who wish to make their contribution can see either Peggy Moran, chairman, or their dormitory representatives who are:

Willard Hall ----- Penny Bien
Virginia Hall ----- Nancy Duvall
Madison Hall ----- Cissie Lewis
Ball Hall ----- Frances Rice
Custis Hall, Margaret Whittington
Westmoreland Hall -----

Betty Lewis Hall ----- Ann Cook
Cornell Hall ----- Enid Heatley
Hamlet House ----- Sue Decker

Mary Washington Country Dance Club Organized

The Mary Washington Country Dance Club has just been organized. With meetings every Friday from 4:00 to 5:00, the girls plan to learn dances of America and England. They also plan to give a Folk Dance once a month to which all students and faculty members are invited. These will be posted on the bulletin boards and announced in Chapel or Convocation.

The girls plan to take in Dance programs in Washington and Richmond as well as entertaining Folk Dance Clubs from other colleges.

Under the leadership and sponsorship of Miss Mildred P. Stewart, the club members look forward to a year of hard work and lots of fun. The officers of this new club are: Beulah Spain, President; Penny Bien, Vice-president, and Ann Cook, Secretary-Treasurer.

Any girl who is particularly interested in Country dances is welcome to join. Come on down to the Big Gym Friday at 4:00. Come on down to dance or to watch. The welcome mat is out.

EDITORIALS

ARE YOU IN?

Are you an active class booster this year? Now that elections are in full swing, every student should be all out in her support. If you want to be in on things and care to figure in campus doings, why not take an interest in class activities.

Maybe you're discouraged because you, or your friends haven't been recognized in class elections. Don't lose interest because the leaders in your class are strangers to you.

Some of the most important work during the class year is to be done by student committees who plan parties, benefits, dances, programs and do numerous other things such as publicity.

Offer your talents to the class president. She needs your cooperation for a successful and effective class year.

LA TRAVIATA COMES TO CAMPUS

Students will be delighted to know that an opera, a real live-to-goodness "opree" is scheduled for presentation at Mary Washington.

Now, all you chillun whose greatest dream is to swoon to the tunes, the action and color which only an opera can afford, will be able to step right over to Washington Hall and thrill to one of the greatest, "La Traviata".

Years previous, music conscious students have toured to Washington and Richmond to see and hear productions of the great masters. This year an opera by a well known company is being brought to our own campus. It will be presented during the first week in February.

"The Cossacks", an internationally known group of singers will also be presented as a lyceum program.

HONORABLE MENTION

This week we wish to recognize Mrs. Eula Porter Robins for her recent work in supervision of the dining hall food. We feel that Mrs. Robins is being very successful in making more attractive and more pleasant meals.

We realize that the preparation of food for 1700 students is a tough assignment entailing genius in preparation, planning and institutional management.

Good food goes a long way in influencing the morale and spirit of the student body, so three cheers for Mrs. Robins who is doing a real job.

FLU EPIDEMIC EXPECTED TO STRIKE THIS WINTER

Every girl on the Mary Washington campus can easily do her part for national defense by keeping herself in the best possible health this year. A 'flu' epidemic, comparable to that in 1918-19, is expected to strike our country, and, unless the United States is fully prepared to meet such a crisis, overwhelming difficulties will engulf the people. It is for this all-important reason that all students should be especially careful in safeguarding their well-being.

Dr. Scott advises that, at the slightest sign of a cold or any similar irritation, all girls should go to the infirmary for treatment. Also, she warns everyone to be particular in choosing her diet and in keeping herself protected from all sorts of weather.

A minimum amount of illness has prevailed "on the hill" at Mary Washington and it is up to the students to see to it that this fortunate condition continues.

Bull Session

All students wishing to express their opinions on campus affairs are asked to address their articles to the Bull Session Column.

Dear Editor,

I would like to use this column to make a suggestion and to give out some compliments. The trio who sang with the college dance orchestra in chapel are the people concerned. I'd like to handle the compliments first by saying those three girls have voices that just go with popular lyrics. Why can't we hear them more often? That brings me to the second question I have in mind.

Why can't that trio become a permanent part of the orchestra? It seems to me that it would lend "class" to the orchestra to use them not only as spot performers, but also as background for the regular vocalist. I am not a member of the orchestra, but I am interested in popular music, and would like to see our dance orchestra really go places.

A-Peck 'o Dirt

From the steps of Ball:

We see Charlotte Griggs hand-holding with Norman, who, from all reports, is really a hog about our Charlie. Well, can you blame him?

From the steps of Westmoreland:

Grave Alyce and that favorite man Frank. Strictly from the inside, that is one romance that is headed for "happily ever after." How do I know well?

From the steps of Virginia: Connie Cart and Mary Nealy, still sighing over that potent week-end at Maryland, or better still, Washington.

From the steps of Madison:

Attractive Elsie Davis, definitely in a dither over Dolly and Bill those Newport News men must have what it takes.

From the steps of Custis:

Shirley Jacobus all-a-flutter over that man at the University. Wahoo must be a favorite yell around here.

From the College Shop:

Janie and Bernard—he is certainly darling.

Ada and Bill. And take it from me again, that man has the most beautiful voice.

Elsie sorta misty eyed over Buck.

From all over the campus:

Heard over a bridge game: "Hilda, where did you get your V. P. I. pin?" "Oh, from an old goon—Tiny Buck Buchanan."

Where did you get yours? Betty answered, from Tiny Buchanan. Both parties were expertly treated for fainting.

Week-ending this week-end:

Fran Reisley and Shirley Bishop are off for Harvard.

Alyce Amory, Edith Beamer, Margy Berry, and Nerry Hynson will give the midshipmen a good idea of how cute the girls are at Mary Washington.

Charlotte left for home Wednesday, and while she is there she's gonna help entertain the governor.

Bunny is traveling to New York and you can guess who is going to meet her there—just her Bill.

Dorabelle will meet Doss in Richmond; talk about true love, that is it. Don't you believe me? Well just look at that gorgeous diamond.

Foresight

M. W. C. . . . here we come! The Freshman Class of '41!

We challenge you, our elders, To test our every part. . . Our minds, our skill, our diligence. Our eagerness of heart.

We have a trust to guide us. . . That here we gain that knowledge Which will forever light our paths As we go fourth from college.

But we will not be just content To learn of booky things. . . We yearn to grasp those friendships, Those joys that college brings.

And we hope to leave behind us When our days here are through. . . As pleasant memories of us As we shall hold of you.

And toward this goal we'll ever strive. . . To make you proud in '45.

Theatre Trips

To Washington

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Weiss, a number of trips will be made this year to Washington to see some of the news plays of the year.

The plays that have been selected so far are: "Candle in The Wind" with Helen Hayes on Oct. 18, "There Shall be No Night" on Oct. 25, "The Land is Bright" on Oct. 25, and "Blithe Spirit" on Nov. 1.

Anyone who wishes to see these plays should contact Mr. Weiss. As the waiting list is very long, and as only a limited number of tickets can be secured, it is best to get your name in early to avoid disappointment.

All the trips will leave on Saturdays at twelve-thirty in cars provided by the faculty. The price of each trip includes transportation, theatre ticket and dinner that evening at some well known restaurant in Washington.

Mr. Weiss requests that all those interested get permission from home and pay him well in advance to dispel any difficulty.

FASHION NOTES

BETTY LINDSTROM

"We're Just Window Shopping, Thank You!"

In and out the bargain counters I wandered the other day, and such arrays of "cute" do-dads, stunning hair-does, and smart clothes you have never seen! My dear, but really! My eyes are still as big as saucers, and my tongue waters for something new. Let me tell a few of the marvelous things that I saw:

A wonderful skating sweater with Indian-style stripes, of the very brightest colors imaginable; long sleeves, and a turtle-neck! To top it off, I saw mittens and a stocking cap to match! Wouldn't the sweater, mittens, and cap look simply "de-evine" with a bright red wool skating skirt?

Have you noticed the new Fall and Winter hats? No? Well, when you do, note how much of the hair they cover! Again, snoods are back in the limelight—this time adorning fluffy fur dream hats! Also, turbans are standing very much on their own. The hats of the 1930's are here, but this time in modified versions. Gay feathers—anywhere from turkey feathers to ostrich plumes—balanced dangerously around the crowns and brims; and veils add bewitching airs!

"V" stands for victory as we all know. "V" also stands for "neck-line"—something old yet something new! Tailored dresses with deep cut "V" necklines, dinner gowns with "V" necklines surrounded by wing-like roll-back collars, and "V-necked" sweaters—pullover and cardigans—take their bows.

Next, the "dickie dress" with "saddle-shoulder" sleeves is a very popular newcomer. And, a modification of the plain dickie dress is the "dotted dickie dress". Both dresses can be worn "dickie-less", with the necks closed to form square neck-lines!

Did you know that you can practically wear your dresses wrong-side-out and get away with it now? I actually saw a very smart looking dress in moss-green with the sleeves seamed down the outside! It was a wool sport dress—a campus dress—collar-less, and with invisible buttons down the front. Two large pockets were on either side of the skirt; both pockets were stitched on the outside, as were the sleeves.

I didn't see many dresses or coats with padded sleeves. Most of the clothes now have leg-o-mutton sleeves, bell sleeves, or a variation of the square padded sleeve.

And now for the more frivolous side of "M' lady".

Try "Chen Yu" nail polish. Although it's not new, it is exciting! The nail make-up that stays perfect Oh! so long without chipping! The polish comes in eighteen exotic shades: Jade pink, Joss House, Temple Fire, Lotus Blossom, Flowering Almond, Blue Moss, Weeping Willow, Opium Poppy, Wistaria, Canton Rose, Moon Mist, Collie, Burma Red, and others. The names alone are fascinating, don't you think? The polish bottles resemble old Chinese vases!

When you have a spare moment on rainy days, try binding your last-year's cardigan with a piece of bright colored ribbon! Put velvet buttons on your old basque dress; and, you might even try making a tiny collar to match the buttons.

This year as of last, the bags shown are long and narrow; make one of velvet with your initial at the end of the fastener!

Long gloves are being worn with practically everything. So brighten up your spirits and your wardrobe with a pair of beautiful, long, sleek, black gloves studded at the cuffs with jewels!

And so we end our window-shopping tour. Better luck next time, we were just looking, thank you.

The Inquisitive Mouse

The inquisitive mouse prowls again, this time in search of the perfect man. Here are some view points:

Jack Shirley: "He must wash behind his ears."

Onnie Selby: "Not necessarily good looking but must radiate personality."

Dorothy Walker: "My Man."

Juillet Benack: "Here, just a man."

Dorothy Bonnewell & Mable Ball: "There ain't no such creature."

Mary McConnick: "A man from 14 to 40."

Muriel Bailey: "Someone from Penn. who will come to see me here."

Ann Chappel: "One who will love, honor and OBEY."

Imogene Garrett: "I wouldn't like a perfect man."

Lillie Macheras: "One who is smooth as glass but slow as growing grass."

Nancy Rohner: "The type who enjoys sitting before a fire with a pipe, his slippers and a good book. Also one without a line and no strings attached."

Roonah Kidd: "My brother."

Boston McGill: "Roonah's brother."

Bug Kerns: "One who gives person to person looks."

Jane Trevett: "A blonde Theta Chi, with changeable eyes."

Nancy Altcheson: "Wavy black hair, fairly tall, brown eyes and lots of natural color in his cheeks."

XYZ: "Dr. Frick."

Read It Or Not

De Ripley

Here are a few "tidbits" which floated into De Ripley between tests . . . It seems that Dr. Locke was standing in the back of the room while giving an exam and happened to remark: "From here I don't see how anyone can help but make an 'A'." One of his star pupils sitting in the front row rose up and approached the last row of seats saying: "Loog ood, I'm coming back!" . . . SAM really believes in giving birthdays the proper amount of emphasis at least when they're Bobby Kingstons'. All day long, evidence of his abounding (a four letter word, guess what?) kept rolling in, such as a telegram, "Special", phone call, present and what have you, more fun! . . . The race has started, girls, and Jane Ellen's string of ten are really crowding each other around the turn — from here it looks like a photo-finish but we can't give you the winner because of the close censorship of Navy activities . . . Per usual Mary Sticksles is getting her mail (spell it either way or both) in extremely large quantities which might account for the fact that she will be seen floating around the U. of Virginia dance floor soon, aren't we envious though? . . . La Vonne Coward led us to believe that blondes were her specialty but since last week-end we believe otherwise. Our reason: A tall, dark and handsome Second Lieutenant . . . Flash! If our eyes don't deceive us isn't that a real, honest-to-goodness, absolutely, bee-u-tiful diamond Dorabelle Forrest is transporting around on a certain left hand finger? No wonder she has to keep patting that suddenly unruly hair back into place with that same fascinating hand everyone's so enviously gazing at. . . It would certainly make some middies we know of terribly angry if they knew that June McCulley, a local girl, went to West Point and made off with an invitation to the Army-Navy game and also a very good looking (man too of course) pin . . . Speaking of pins it seems that Jackie Holton had her hands full when both her "pin man" and a Chapel Hill man decided to come up to M. W. C. the same week-end. However, the "pin man" won out, for the time being at least . . . Some little birdie told us that Ginny Morgan was on the loose again and for all girls to watch their men, but surely that can't be true since she'll be "puning" around the campus this week-end with that wite date who foot four U.-Va. man — so all you lucky girls with prospective dates can relax . . . Nancy Duval, don't tell us you are going to the football game with a V. M. I. cadet and not Bumps? . . . I had always thought Yale was quite a ways from here but evidently was mistaken since Louise Jacques journeyed with hardly a trouble at all up to the game and dances — don't M. W. C. girls get around though? . . . Betty Griggs' trip to Washington, D. C. is going to be lovely or is it love that prompts this trip? . . . So it was Orchids For Remembrance last week-end at V. P. I. — good work, Ginia Rubush, only tell us, which one were you remembering? . . . Nothing matters to Beth Brown as long as she has her little red head to keep the wires hot . . . Seeling how this is the dirt column it might be appropriate to mention that there will be a lot of dust flying out at the Oak Hill Stables this Sunday. So get your tickets for the horse show NOW in room No. 342 Virginia Hall. (adv.)

Seniors Defeat Sophs In First Hockey Game

Band Plays, Crowd Cheers

At the grand opening of the hockey season last Tuesday afternoon, the Senior team proved its superiority by defeating the Sophomores 3 to 0 in a closely contested game. It was a hard won victory, however, for the Sophs defensive was at its best.

Seniors Score

With amazing team cooperation the Senior forward line clicked consistently, allowing Nancy Brooker, left inner, to score twice in the first half and Captain Rita Fortmann to shoot the final goal in the last half. In spite of their teamwork, the Seniors were stopped more than once by the fighting spirit of their sister team.

Joyce Davis, Soph goalie walked off with honors by doing a spectacular job in stopping those pounding Seniors drives for the goal. The forward line of the Second Year-men was too weak, however, to crash the defense of the Upperclassmen. The two consistently reliable players of the opposing teams held the same position, center half, Lavinia Ellet of the Seniors and Captain Virginia Hawley of the Sophs.

Color Added

The presence of the band, cheer leaders, photographers, reporters, and an unusually large number of enthusiastic rooters added glamour and to the event. Led by Drum Major Barbara Brittain the band marched and played between halves. The line-up was as follows:

Line-Up

Seniors	Sophs
Davis	Kilby
MacPherson	Sniffen
Buckingham	CF
Brooker	Evans
Fortmann	Siison
Johnson	LW
Ellet	Woodward

Fun Night Is Planned By Athletic Association

An A. A. objective is a program of games, dancing, or movies to be offered on Saturday nights for the girls, faculty, and dates. Each Council member will take charge of one night with the aid of those girls who signed up for the social committee. These are to begin in the near future to provide Saturday night recreation for the students staying here for the weekend, their dates, and visitors.

A big hand to Pela Bobbitt, who supported her Junior class by trying out for cheerleader when only two others had appeared to represent the class and yet she had never lead a cheer in her life. . . Then when another Junior did try out, she resign in favor of her. . . We could use more good sports like her. . .

It certainly was wonderful to see as many people out for the opening hockey game as there were. . . As one senior remarked, "This is the first hockey game I've seen and it was good. I enjoyed it so much". . .

The band and the cheerleaders lent the atmosphere of a gala event and even "cokes" were sold between halves. . .

The faculty made a nice showing at the game, Dr. Kelley, Miss Stewart, Dr. Baker, and of course the coach, Miss Hove. . . Even Dr. Iltis, a very busy man of late, was there. . .

The doubles tennis tournament has reached the semifinals stage with Helen Miller and Molly McKeen scheduled to meet Harris and Bates in one match, and Shugart and Shugart against Watts and Haynie in the other match. . . Have any of you noticed that little Elva Haynie plays a wonderful left handed game? . . .

The Horse Show this Sunday will be for the benefit of the underprivileged children so let us all attend. . . There are some mighty nice events scheduled too, with Mary Washington girls entered. . .

Nancy Lee Tucker has a finger in everything from making posters, to hockey for the Freshmen, to playing in the archery exhibition. . .

Terrapins To Coach

Beginning Swimmers

The Terrapin Club, successful swimming organization on the hill, has made new plans to benefit the girls of the student body. Meeting Monday, they decided to offer their services to those girls taking swimming or any girl that is interested in having help.

Plans are now in progress to have a Friday night swimming hour for only that group of girls taking swimming in classes. No one may come in but those wishing special instruction. There will be a life guard on duty and the names of those who have offered their services will be posted at the pool.

Whoever said there wasn't any homework to swimming? This plan will do away with many of the failures in swimming and the girls owe the Terrapins a vote of thanks.

The 1941-42 officers were chosen. They are Susan Johnson, Vice President, Emmy Lou Kilby, Secretary, and Hazel Sniffen, Treasurer. The president as you know is Betty Lee Gilman.

Some one else that is Richmond bound—Betty—Anthony—meeting Pike. Hmm, where have we heard that name before?

Fond readers, (I HOPE), tis getting pow'ful late, so for just a little while I'll let you dig up your own juicy bits.

See ya next week,

Outing Club Hikes On Skyline Drive

A. A. Sponsors

Class Cheerleaders

Firm foundations underly beautiful buildings and so with that in mind the Athletic Association has started plans for a bigger and better year. The first objective was Try-Outs for cheerleaders of each class to support the teams in the class tournaments.

It was decided by the members of the association that the set number of cheerleaders for each class would be three. Try-outs were held and as a result Dorothy Reynolds, Anita Devers and Janie Dye were chosen to represent the Freshmen class; Ann Malone, June Scott, and Mary McCrane, the Sophomores; Mozell Moore, Penny Pritchard, and Peggy Moran for the Juniors, and the Seniors were allowed the special privilege of being different and having two acts with a total of five persons.

One act was made of Susan Johnson and Penny Bien who tumbled to the recitation of an original verse in honor of the Seniors. Nancy Mann, Molly Case, and Jane Waugh composed the other act which resulted in a laugh and finally brought the spectators into the spirit of things. . . Any member of the student body that is interested is asked to make up yells and songs for their classes and the Devils and Goats.

As the sun was just beginning to rise Sunday, the Outing Club left the campus to spend the day in perfect surroundings of Nature in all its glory, namely the Blue Ridge Mountains, the most colorful spot in Virginia for hiking. The weather was cool and clear, the sun shining through the clouds on Skyline Drive making shadows on the mountains. It was in all a most inspiring day for a hike.

At about eight o'clock, the girls reached Pinnacles Campground where a breakfast of apple sauce, hamburger, rolls, fried potatoes, and hot chocolate was cooked over an open stove. From that setting, the first real view of the Shenandoah Valley was seen. The leaves were a jumbled mess of scarlet, green, yellow, and brown with the sunlight playing over them. The river wound through the valley like a snake or group of "S's".

Skyline was their final destination, a beautifully developed campground and ranger headquarters overlooking the valley, and in the shadow of Stony Man Mountain. There the hiking began, led by a Park Ranger. The first event on that was the panic of the girls to investigate a moon shine still, found in the forest by the rangers. (Incidentally the girls learned the entire procedure for making "corn liker.")

It was a tired but happy group of college girls that returned to campus, and a group that wishes to thank those members of the faculty who so generously cooperated with the plans of the Outing Club.
